讲座时间：2014 年 2 月 23 日下午 2:00pm

讲座题目：“It is Never Too Young To Start The Process of Getting Into America’s Top Colleges”

Education expert Neil Chyten, founder of Chyten Educational Services, with more than 38 education centers across America, and author/co-author of more than 10 books related to test preparation and college admissions, will be speaking to parents about how to prepare their students to gain admission into America’s top colleges. That process begins in elementary school and continues in middle school and high school with focused, tangible, and highly specialized instruction.

Chyten will be also be describing the many programs his company will feature at CCCC in the coming weeks, and how they can lead directly into an increased likelihood of gaining admission into America’s Top Colleges. They classes are for students of all ages. They include reading and writing programs for elementary school students and middle school students and an SAT program and SAT Biology Test program.
